RUSSIA AT WAR, THE RED ARMY, GERMAN NEWSREEL FOOTAGE

Russia VS Germany

Over 90 min of rarely before seen interviews, documentaries, war footage and more from private libraries of veterans from WWII. This action packed and stunning DVD contains the following programs:

“Russia at War” - On June 22, 1941 Operation Barbarossa began, unleashing a massive German attack against the Soviet Union and beginning the most violent conflict in the history of recorded warfare. By the winter of 1941 the Whermacht stood at the gates of Moscow, its panzers poised to take the capital. But once again Russia’s greatest ally, “Mother Winter” intervened stopping the Germans on the verge of victory. It would take another four brutal years of fighting and millions of lives before the red flag would finally fly over Berlin.

“The Red Army” - After Stalin purged his officer corps in the 1930’s the Red Army found itself unprepared for the massive German invasion in June of 1941. And while the Whermacht would capture close to 5 million Russian prisoners during the war, the Red Army always seemed to recover...and get better. By the summer of 1943, the Red Army that had suffered so many defeats was no more. In its place stood one of the most formidable ground forces the world had ever known.

In addition you get the mini documentary: “German Newsreel footage” - During WWII the Germans, under the supervision of Josef Goebbels, made sure that their cameras went anywhere that could be exploited for propaganda purposes. This rare footage offers unique glimpses of Nazi Germany’s most important personalities.
